

Intermediate Production Designer

A Little About You

Your passion is to develop creative concepts and build on strategic ideas. You're into setting trends not following them. You're confident in your talent and abilities in digital, print, social media, and display design, and can take feedback based on the creative expertise and experience from the others on your team. You keep it casual, keep it friendly, but have a professional work ethic and a respect for deadlines, to do your part to support our team goals and keep our projects on track. You play nice, work hard, and have the listening skills and attention to detail that let you inject your design sensibility into the brand personality of every client, because you're more than a designer, you're an ACE.
